DIVORCE

You can apply for a divorce if you can show that your marriage has broken down irretrievably. To support this, you need to be able to prove one of the following facts:

- 2 years or more desertion
- You have lived apart for 2 years and your partner agrees to the divorce
- You have lived apart for more than 5 years
- Adultery or unreasonable Behaviour

FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR YOU & YOUR CHILDREN

There are various options available for you:

- A clean break (settling matters once and for all)
- Weekly or monthly payments for a defined period
- Property and pension settlements and lump sum payments

FUNDING AND MEDIATION

If you wish to apply for Public Funding sometimes you and your partner must first attend a session with a trained mediator to see if your differences can be resolved.

UNMARRIED COUPLES

We can help unmarried couples to protect their interests by preparing special agreements (Cohabitation Agreements or Separation Deeds).

SAME SEX COUPLES

Same sex couples interests are now protected. We can advise you of the extent of this protection and how to ensure your rights are fully protected.

EARLY ACTION CAN BE VITAL

Whatever your family situation, you need an expert on your side to protect your interests.

Early intervention can lead to an early solution, so call us now and let us help you.
